

For Immediate Release

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EQUESTRIAN SPORTS ANNOUNCES 2016 AWARDS AND GRANTS

Redlands, Calif., November 30, 2016- Southern California Equestrian Sports (SCES) President David Kuhlman, announced today the 2016 SCES award winners as decided upon by the Board of Directors. “As an organization we are dedicated to assisting riders and events for the betterment of Equestrian Sports across the United States and Globe. Each of our 2016 award winners are very deserving and we are proud to support them,” said Kuhlman.

The following grant recipients were chosen for recognition of their fundraising efforts and competitive success-Allison Springer (Awarded $2,000), Sinead Halpin (Awarded $1,250) and Lindsay Kelley (Awarded $750). Additionally, this year, the board is proud to recognize SCES member Lauren Billys with an award of $1,500 for her competitive achievements competing at the 2016 Olympic Games representing Puerto Rico.

In addition to these monetary awards, aimed at facilitating SCES’s mission of understanding and assisting with the financial commitment it takes to compete at the highest levels of equestrian sports, SCES additionally takes pride in supporting organizers who make equestrian sports better for participants and all involved.

SCES congratulates all of the winners, and wishes them the best of luck in the coming competition season.

About Southern California Equestrian Sports

Southern California Equestrian Sports, Inc. (SCES) is a non-profit organization dedicated to help equestrian riders and organizers raise tax-deductible funds to compete in or support their National and International competitions throughout the United States.

SCES is designed to help athletes and owners expand their financial resources to train and compete by allowing supporters to receive a tax-deductible benefit for contributions. SCES understands the financial commitment it takes to compete at the highest levels of equestrian sports; therefore established an organization to help foster development and competition.

SCES will consider any equestrian or competition meeting the eligibility criteria, in any discipline that is nationally or internationally recognized, for grants. The seven FEI disciplines are Combined Driving, Dressage, Endurance, Eventing, Jumping, Reining, and Vaulting.

SCES has been granted a tax-exempt status under Section 501C3 of the Internal Revenue Code. All contributions are tax deductible at the maximum allowed by law and donations can be made on behalf of Southern California Equestrian Sports, Inc.

For more information about Southern California Equestrian Sports, please visit their website at <http://www.scesports.org>.

Press Contact:

P: 707.529.7448

E:info@athletux.com